CHARACTERISTICS OF SUCCESSFUL PROJECT TEAMS
PE Credit for Continuing Education

When: Wednesday, May 16, 2012
Time: 7:30 a.m. – 9:00 a.m.
Location: HBR Office at 8031 Airport Blvd., Suite 118
Presenter: Ms. Marilyn Kobb, The Kobb Team

Today, more than ever, project teams are expected to step up to deliver on challenging budgets, schedules, and team configurations. This translates to a need for a fully effective collaboration, flow of information, and problem solving. Are your project working relationships functioning optimally to deliver on these challenges?

Our May speaker, Marilyn Kobb, will explore with you:

- The what, why, and how of project team alignment
- The three most critical areas of team breakdowns, and
- Concrete tools for building a project culture of accountability...and managing the risk of working relationships that aren't working

Marilyn Kobb is a consultant who focuses on maximizing organizational achievement through strategically-aligned team and individual performance. She helps people work together to create and meet shared goals and expectations, ensuring that a structure and environment are in place to support that achievement. A seasoned facilitator and coach, Marilyn works with organizations in the areas of:

- Creating strategic alignment—multi-cultural project teams, organizational units, and alliances
- Building strong working relationships within and between groups
- Managing the process of change/transition in strategy, operations, culture, and organizational structure
- Performance coaching and development—leaders, teams, individual contributors, presenters, facilitators
